

Rackham Choir's High School Vocal Internship Program 2016 - 2017

Rackham Choir welcomes another year of High School Vocal Interns

This year Rackham Choir welcomes four new high school students to its Internship Program: Katherine Hill, Soprano (Royal Oak High School), Jordan Gagnon, Mezzo-Soprano (North Farmington High School), Mark-Ethan Holloway, Countertenor (Detroit School of Arts), and Taylor Bouque, Baritone (Troy High School). Madison Green, Soprano (Northville High School) will be part of Rackham Choir for her second year as Intern.

The High School Vocal Internship is proving extremely popular and a great success for all those taking part. Lead by Rackham Choir's Education Coordinator Dr. Victoria Bigelow, the program offers a unique opportunity to local high school students to pursue their passions in music and singing and to find the necessary training and infrastructure to turn their passions into tangible and realistic opportunities for study.

The students will receive training and resources through Rackham Choir as well as taking part in the season rehearsals and concerts.
